Weſtminſter, November 18.

HIS Majeſty came this Day to the Houſe of Peers, and being in His Royal Robes ſeated on the Throne with the uſual Solemnity, Sir Henry Bellenden, Gentleman Uſher of the Black Rod, was ſent with a Meſſage from His Majeſty to the Houſe of Commons, commanding their Attendance in the Houſe of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following moſt gracious Speech.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

THE juſt Concern, which I have felt in My own Breaſt, on the ſudden Death of the late King, my Royal Grandfather, makes Me not doubt, but you muſt all have been deeply affected with ſo ſevere a Loſs. The preſent critical, and difficult, Conjuncture has made this Loſs the more ſenſible, as He was the great Support of that Syſtem, by which alone the Liberties of Europe, and the Weight, and Influence, of theſe Kingdoms, can be preſerved; and gave Life to the Meaſures, conducive to thoſe Important Ends.

I need not tell you the Addition of Weight, which immediately falls upon Me, in being called to the Government of this Free, and Powerful, Country, at ſuch a Time, and under ſuch Circumſtances. My Conſolation is in the Uprightneſs of My own Intentions, your faithful, and united, Aſſiſtance, and the Bleſſing of Heaven, upon Our joint Endeavours, which I devoutly implore.

Born and educated in this Country, I glory in the Name of Briton; and the peculiar Happineſs of My Life will ever conſiſt in promoting the Welfare of a People, whoſe Loyalty, and warm Affection, to Me, I conſider, as the greateſt, and moſt permanent, Security of My Throne; and I doubt not but their Steadineſs in thoſe Principles, will equal, the Firmneſs of My invariable Reſolution to adhere to, and ſtrengthen, this excellent Conſtitution in Church, and State; and to maintain the Toleration inviolable. The Civil, and Religious, Rights of My Loving Subjects, are equally dear to Me, with the moſt Valuable Prerogatives of My Crown; and, as the ſureſt Foundation of the Whole, and the beſt Means to draw down the Divine Favor on My Reign, it is My fixed Purpoſe to Countenance, and Encourage, the Practice of True Religion, and Virtue.

I reflect, with Pleaſure, on the Succeſſes, with which the Britiſh Arms have been proſpered this laſt Summer. The total Reduction of the vaſt Province of Canada, with the City of Montreal, is of the moſt Intereſting Conſequence; and muſt be as heavy a Blow to my Enemies, as it is a Conqueſt glorious to Us; The more Glorious, becauſe effected, almoſt without Effuſion of Blood, and with that Humanity, which makes an amiable Part of the Character of this Nation.

Our Advantages gained in the Eaſt Indies have been ſignal, and muſt greatly diminiſh the Strength, and Trade, of France, in thoſe Parts, as well as procure the moſt ſolid Benefits, to the Commerce, and Wealth, of My Subjects.

In Germany, where the whole French Force has been employed, the Combined Army, under the Wiſe, and Able, Conduct of My General, Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, has not only ſtopt their Progreſs, but has gained Advantages over them, notwithſtanding their boaſted Superiority, and their not having hitherto come to a General Engagement.

My Good Brother and Ally, the King of Pruſſia, although ſurrounded with Numerous Armies of Enemies, has, with a Magnanimity, and Perſeverance, almoſt beyond Example, not only withſtood their various Attacks, but has obtained very conſiderable Victories over them.

Of theſe Events, I ſhall ſay no more at this Time, becauſe the Nature of the War in thoſe Parts, has kept the Campaign there ſtill depending.

As My Navy is the Principal Article of Our Natural Strength, It gives Me much Satisfaction to receive It, in ſuch good Condition; whilſt the Fleet of France is weakened to ſuch a Degree, that the ſmall Remains of it, have continued blocked up by My Ships in their own Ports. At the ſame Time the French Trade is reduced to the loweſt Ebb; and with Joy of Heart, I ſee the Commerce of My Kingdoms, that great Source of Our Riches, and fixed Object, of My never failing Care and Protection, flouriſhing to an Extent, unknown in any former War.

The Valour, and Intrepidity, of My Officers, and Forces, both at Sea, and Land, have been diſtinguiſhed ſo much, to the Glory of this Nation, that I ſhould be wanting in Juſtice to Them, if I did not acknowledge It. This is a Merit, which I ſhall conſtantly encourage, and reward: And I take this Occaſion to declare, that the zealous, and uſeful, Service of the Militia, in the preſent arduous Conjuncture, is very acceptable to Me.

In this State I have found Things, at My Acceſſion to the Throne of My Anceſtors; Happy in viewing the proſperous Part of It; Happier ſtill ſhould I have been, had I found My Kingdoms, whoſe true Intereſt I have entirely at Heart, in full Peace: But ſince the Ambition, injurious Encroachments, and dangerous Deſigns, of My Enemies, rendered the War both juſt, and neceſſary, and the generous Overture made laſt Winter, towards a Congreſs for a Pacification, has not yet produced a ſuitable Return, I am determined, with your chearful, and powerful, Aſſiſtance, to proſecute the War with Vigor, in order to that deſireable Object, a ſafe, and honorable Peace. For this Purpoſe, It is abſolutely incumbent upon Us, to be early prepared, and I rely upon your Zeal, and hearty Concurrence, to ſupport the King of Pruſſia

(Price Six-Pence.)

Prussia, and the Rest of My Allies, and to make ample Provision for carrying on the War, as the only Means to bring Our Enemies to equitable Terms of Accommodation.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The greatest Uneasiness, which I feel at this Time, is in considering the uncommon Burdens, necessarily brought upon My faithful Subjects. I desire only such Supplies, as shall be requisite to prosecute the War with Advantage; be adequate to the necessary Services; and that they may be provided for, in the most sure, and effectual, Manner. You may depend upon the faithful and punctual Application of what shall be granted. I have ordered the proper Estimates for the ensuing Year to be laid before you; and also an Account of the Extraordinary Expences, which from the Nature of the different, and remote, Operations, have been unavoidably incurred.

It is with peculiar Reluctance, that I am obliged at such a Time, to mention any Thing, which personally regards Myself. But, as the Grant of the greatest Part of the Civil List Revenues is now determined, I trust in your Duty, and Affection, to Me, to make the proper Provision, for supporting My Civil Government with Honor, and Dignity. On My Part, you may be assured of a regular, and becoming, Œconomy.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The Eyes of all Europe are upon you. From your Resolutions, the Protestant Interest hopes for Protection, as well as all our Friends for the Preservation of their Independency; and our Enemies fear, the final Disappointment of their ambitious, and destructive, Views. Let these Hopes, and Fears, be confirmed, and augmented, by the Vigor, Unanimity, and Dispatch, of your Proceedings.

In this Expectation, I am the more encouraged, by a pleasing Circumstance, which I look upon, as one of the most auspicious Omens of My Reign. That happy Extinction of Divisions, and that Union, and good Harmony, which continue to prevail amongst My Subjects, afford me the most agreeable Prospect. The natural Disposition, and Wish, of My Heart, are to cement and promote them; and I promise Myself, that nothing will arise, on your Part, to interrupt, or disturb, a Situation, so essential to the true, and lasting, Felicity of this Great People.

Dublin Castle, November 1.

YEsterday in the Afternoon arrived an Express to their Excellencies the Lords Justices of this Kingdom, with an Account of the Death of our late Sovereign King George the Second, of blessed Memory, and Directions for proclaiming His Royal Majesty King George the Third; and this Morning, at Ten o'Clock, their Excellencies and the Privy-Council met at the Castle, and signed a Proclamation pursuant to the Tenor of that which had been issued in Great Britain, and about Two o'Clock the Lords Justices, and all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Town, with the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, King at Arms, and other Officers attending the State, first proclaimed His Majesty at the Castle Gate, and afterwards went in Procession through the City, escorted by a Squadron of Dragoons, and proclaimed His Majesty at the following Places, viz. at the Tholsel, at Cornmarket, at the Old Bridge, at Ormond Bridge, and at Essex Bridge, with the usual Solemnities. The Great Guns in His Majesty's Park the Phœnix were fired three Rounds, and answered by Vollies from the Regiments quartered there; and the Night ended with Bonfires, Ringing of Bells, and other publick Demonstrations of Joy.

GEORGE ARMAGH. SHANNON.

WHEREAS it hath pleased Almighty God to call to His Mercy our late Sovereign Lord King GEORGE the Second, of blessed Memory, by whose Decease the Imperial Crowns of Great-Britain, France, and Ireland, are solely and rightfully come to the High and Mighty Prince GEORGE, Prince of Wales: We, therefore, the Lords Justices of this Kingdom, and several of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal of this Realm, being here assisted with those of His late Majesty's Privy-Council, and Numbers of other Principal Gentlemen of Quality, with the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of Dublin, do now hereby, with one Voice, and Consent of Tongue and Heart, Publish and Proclaim, That the High and Mighty Prince GEORGE Prince of Wales, is now, by the Death of Our late Sovereign of happy Memory, become Our Only Lawful and Rightful Liege Lord GEORGE the Third, by the Grace of God, King of Great-Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and so forth; to whom We do acknowledge all Faith and constant Obedience, with all hearty and humble Affection; beseeching God, by whom Kings and Queens do reign, to bless the Royal Prince GEORGE the Third, with Long and Happy Years to reign over us.

Given at His Majesty's Castle of Dublin, the 1st Day of November, 1760.

GOD Save the KING.

St. James's, November 17.

This Day the following Addreſs of the Governors of the Bounty of Queen Anne was preſented to His Majeſty by the moſt Reverend Father in God the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, accompanied by a great Number of the Biſhops, and ſeveral other Governors; which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly; and they had all the Honour to kiſs His Majeſty's Hand.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Governors of the Bounty of Queen Anne for the Augmentation of the Maintenance of the Poor Clergy.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Governors of the Bounty of Queen Anne for the Augmentation of ſmall Livings, humbly beg Leave to expreſs our great Concern for the Loſs of our late gracious Sovereign your Royal Grandfather, to whom we are indebted for repeated Marks of his good Will to this Charity, and our equal Joy on the auſpicious Acceſſion of your Majeſty to the Throne, from whoſe Piety, Benevolence and Prudence, every good Work will be ſecure of every needful Favour.

The Firſt Fruits and Tenths of the Clergy, extorted from them originally by the See of Rome, have, ſince the Reformation, been paid with Pleaſure to our own Princes, the Defenders of our Faith, till they were generouſly given back, to increaſe the Maintenance of the poorer Part of Pariſh Miniſters. Providing a ſuitable Competency for them by this Method, will indeed be the Work of Ages. But every Step of the Progreſs towards it not only betters their Condition, an Act of Kindneſs which they greatly deſerve as well as want, but contributes to procure them that Reſpect, without which they cannot be uſeful; and alſo tends to make Reſidence more practicable, and publick Worſhip and Inſtruction more frequent and regular, which are now in many Places much too rare.

We ſolemnly aſſure your Majeſty, that we endeavour to conduct this excellent Deſign, with the utmoſt Faithfulneſs and Attention, according to the Rules preſcribed us by your Royal Predeceſſors, and the Lights that we have obtained by diligent Conſideration and large Experience. We entirely depend on your Majeſty's Goodneſs to protect us in carrying it on; and your Wiſdom to give us further Directions, whenever new Occaſions may require them. And we are firmly perſuaded, that the whole Body of your Clergy join, with us, in unfeigned Duty and Love to your Majeſty's Perſon, and the higheſt Eſteem of your exemplary Virtues; in the warmeſt Gratitude for your gracious Promiſes to preſerve and ſtrengthen the eſtabliſhed Church, and to diſcourage all Sorts of Wickedneſs; and in the moſt fervent Prayers, that God would grant your Majeſty Succeſs in War, and every Bleſſing of Peace, long Life, and eternal Felicity.

Given under our Common Seal this Eleventh Day of November, in the Year of our Lord, One thouſand ſeven hundred and ſixty.

They afterwards waited on the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, and the Archbiſhop of Canterbury made their Compliments to Her Royal Highneſs in a Speech, to which Her Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to return a moſt gracious Anſwer: And they all had the Honour to kiſs her Royal Highneſs's Hand.

St. James's, November 18.

Yeſterday the Right Honourable the Earl of Macclesfield, Preſident, attended by the Council and Fellows of the Royal Society, waited on His Majeſty with an humble Addreſs, which was received very graciouſly; and they all had the Honour of kiſſing His Majeſty's Hand. After which His Majeſty was pleaſed to ſign the Book of Charters and Laws of the Society as their Patron.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Preſident, Council, and Fellows of the Royal Society of London, for improving natural Knowledge.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Preſident, Council, and Fellows of the Royal Society of London, for improving natural Knowledge, beg Leave to approach your ſacred Perſon, to condole in the moſt reſpectful Manner with your Majeſty, on the Death of your Royal Grandfather; and, at the ſame Time, to expreſs our unfeigned Joy, on your Majeſty's happy Succeſſion to the Imperial Crown of theſe Kingdoms.

Sharers as we are with the Reſt of our Fellow Subjects, in the general Grief, ariſing from the great Loſs, which the Publick has ſuſtained, by the Death of our late Excellent and Glorious Sovereign, we have the additional Concern of being thereby deprived of a moſt Gracious Patron, and Generous Benefactor.

We therefore moſt humbly intreat your Majeſty, to take this Society into your Royal Patronage and Protection. And as your Majeſty's known Piety, and other eminent Virtues, afford us the moſt pleaſing Proſpect of your completely repairing the late national Loſs; your Majeſty's remarkable Love of Science in general, and particularly of thoſe Branches of it, which are the peculiar Object of our Studies, and the Improvement whereof was the principal Deſign of our Inſtitution, gives us the moſt ſanguine Hopes, that your Majeſty will be graciouſly pleaſed to comply with this our Requeſt, and honour us with your Royal Name in our Regiſter, as our Patron, among thoſe of your Royal Predeceſſors.

That your Majeſty's Reign may be long, happy, and glorious; and that you may ever rule in the Hearts, as well as over the Perſons, of a free, affectionate, tionate and grateful People, is the earneſt Wiſh, and ardent Prayer, of your Majeſty's loyal Subjects, the Preſident, Council, and Fellows, of the Royal Society of London.

Given under our Common Seal this Thirteenth Day of November, in the firſt Year of the Reign of His Majeſty King George the Third, and in the Year of our Lord 1760.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Portſmouth, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Honourable Lord Anſon: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Portſmouth, being ſenſibly affected with the great and ſudden Loſs of His late Majeſty, of glorious Memory, humbly beg Leave to condole with your Majeſty, and expreſs our Sorrow upon this melancholy Occaſion.

But ſince Providence hath ſo amply ſupplied this Loſs, by your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Throne (which we moſt heartily congratulate) we think it our Duty to moderate our Grief, and enjoy that pleaſing Proſpect of Happineſs which is opened to our View, under your Majeſty's Government.

We therefore humbly offer to your Majeſty all the Aſſurances that can be given of our affectionate Zeal to your Perſon and Government; not doubting but that your Majeſty will continue to ſupport (both in War and Peace) the Reputation of the Britiſh Name, already rendered illuſtrious by the many great and glorious Exploits performed by the Britiſh Arms in every Part of the globe, during the Courſe of the preſent War.

Dated at Portſmouth, the 15th of November 1760.

The following Addreſs of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City of York, has been preſented to His Majeſty by George Fox Lane, Eſq; one of their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City of York, in Common Council aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Commonalty of your antient City of York, beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty upon your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of your Anceſtors, and to expreſs a pious and grateful Regard for the Memory of your Royal Grandfather, our late moſt Gracious Sovereign, who reigned ſo long in the Hearts of His Subjects, and merited the glorious Character of Father of his People

Your Majeſty's elevated Mind aſpires to the ſame Object, breathing the tenderſt Concern for the true Intereſts of this Country, which has the Honour of giving you Birth; and for that excellent Conſtitution, which is the Baſis of our Liberties. To Princes acting upon theſe Principles, the Engliſh have ever been dutiful and loyal; and our Hearts, melted with your early and innate Goodneſs, already overflow with the warmeſt Affection to your Sacred Perſon, and the moſt zealous Attachment to your Government.

Theſe exalted Virtues, which have thus indeared your Majeſty to your People, are called forth in the moſt important and intereſting Juncture, diſtinguiſhed by the moſt ſignal Succeſſes Abroad, and the moſt perfect Unanimity at Home: And, we truſt, that your Majeſty's Arms and Councils, under the Guidance of the Almighty, are deſtined to relieve Mankind from the Calamities of War, and to procure for your People a ſafe and honourable Peace: And we beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that we will ſtill moſt chearfully contribute, to the utmoſt of our Abilities, what may be neceſſary for the ſpeedy attaining ſo deſirable an End,

May your Majeſty be bleſſed with a long and proſperous Reign over an happy and grateful People: May a juſt Reverence for Religion and the Laws dignify your Government; and may the Proteſtant Succeſſion continue in your Illuſtrious Houſe to the remoteſt Period of Time.

The following Addreſs of the Provoſt, Magiſtrates, and Council of the City of Aberdeen, having been tranſmitted by the Provoſt of Aberdeen to the Right Honourable the Earl of Holderneſſe, one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, has by him been preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Provoſt, Magiſtrates and Council of the City of Aberdeen.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt dutiful Subjects, the Provoſt, Magiſtrates and Council of the City of Aberdeen, beg Leave, with Hearts full of Loyalty, to congratulate your Majeſty on your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms.

Permit us, on this Occaſion, firſt to ſympathize with your Majeſty on the Loſs of your Royal Grandfather, George the Second, our late moſt Gracious Sovereign; a Prince, who, through a long and illuſtrious Reign, uniformly purſued the true Intereſts of His Subject, who always united inflexible Juſtice with unexampled Clemency, and who was alike incapable of making an unjuſt Attack upon the Rights of other Nations, and of permitting any to invade, with Impunity, the Rights of his own People.

It is with the greateſt Pleaſure we obſerve, that your Majeſty has aſcended the Throne at a Time when perfect Unanimity prevails at Home, and the Britiſh Counſels and Arms triumph every where Abroad. We rejoice in the Aſſurance, that a King, who has already given ſo ſtrong Proofs of Regard to the Conſtitution and Intereſt of his Country, and diſplayed in early Youth ſo many Princely Virtues, will improve the Advantages with which he begins his Reign to the Honour and Happineſs of the Nation, and will ever be the Father and the Guardian of his People.

We gladly ſeize this firſt Opportunity of aſſuring your Majeſty of our inviolable Attachment to your Majeſty's Perſon and Government, and of expreſſing our hearty Wiſhes, that Almighty God may grant your Majeſty a long and glorious Reign over a People truly ſenſible of the Bleſſings they derive from your Majeſty's illuſtrious Houſe.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

Your Majeſty's moſt faithful, moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Provoſt, Magiſtrates and Council of the City of Aberdeen.

Signed in their Name and by their Appointment,

Aberdeen,
Nov. 6, 1760. Wm. Davidſon, Provoſt.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeſſes of the Town of Cambridge, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Hon. Charles Sloane Cadogan and Soames Jennyns, Eſqrs. their Repreſentives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeſſes of the Town of Cambridge.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

YOUR ever dutiful and loyal Subjects the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeſſes of the Town of Cambridge, beg Leave to expreſs their unfeigned Sorrow and and Regret for the Loſs of his late moſt Excellent Majeſty, whoſe unwearied Endeavours to ſecure the Welfare and Happineſs of his Subjects, and invariable Attachment to the Laws and Conſtitution of his Kingdoms, throughout a long and glorious Reign, juſtly demand the ſtrongeſt and moſt affectionate Acknowledgements from every honeſt Briton. At the ſame Time that a grateful Senſibility exacts this ſmall, though honourable tribute, to his Memory, permit us, Sir, likewiſe to rejoice in the certain Proſpect, which your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Throne gives us, of the Continuance of thoſe invaluable Bleſſings, our Civil and Religious Rights and Liberties, which were reſtored and confirmed to theſe Nations, by their great Deliverer King William, and from Him tranſmitted, through his faithful Succeſſors, unviolated into your Majeſty's Hands, for Protection: Confident of that, and ſecure of every publick Bleſſing under it, We moſt humbly aſſure your Majeſty, that our Lives and Fortunes will be ever chearfully devoted to the Defence of your Sacred Perſon, and the Support of your Government; upon the Stability of which, we found our ſureſt Hopes of future Happineſs.

May you Majeſty long live the dreaded Foe and Scourge of Tyranny, and the beloved Guardian of Britiſh Independency: And may the grateful Returns of a People as affectionate as free, make your Majeſty's Reign eaſy and glorious to yourſelf, and terrible to all your Enemies.

Given under our common Seal, the Eighth Day of November, One thouſand ſeven hundred and ſixty.

The following Addreſs of the Bailiffs, Burgeſſes and Commonalty of the Town or Borough of Ludlow, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Henry Bridgeman and Edward Herbert, Eſqrs. their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Bayliffs, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Town or Borough of Ludlow in the County of Salop, in Common-Council aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Bayliffs, Burgeſſes and Commonalty of the Borough of Ludlow, beg Leave to approach your Majeſty with our Congratulations upon your happy Acceſſion to the Throne, and to offer our Vows of unalterable Fidelity and Affection to your Royal Perſon and Government.

We are ſenſibly affected and afflicted by the Loſs of our late moſt Excellent King, at a Time when we are engaged in the Hazards of War with the potent and perpetual Enemies of your Kingdoms: But when we behold your Majeſty not only poſſeſſed of His Crown, but alſo of His Royal Virtues, and conſider the Hereditary Courage of the Houſe of Brunſwick, our Fears are no more; we believe ourſelves ſafe under your Majeſty's Powerful Protection.

That God Almighty, by whom Kings reign, may eſtabliſh your Throne; that your Majeſty may reign long over a willing and obedient People, and, by Victory in War, reſtore to them the Bleſſings of Peace, are the conſtant Wiſhes and Prayers of us your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects.

In Teſtimony whereof, we have hereunto ſet our Hands and Common Seal this Tenth Day of November, in the Year of our Lord, One thouſand ſeven hundred and ſixty.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor and Commonalty of the Borough of Dunheved otherwiſe Launceſton, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Peter Burrell, Eſq; one of their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor and Commonalty of the Borough of Dunheved otherwiſe Launceſton in the County of Cornwall, in Common Council aſſembled, beg Leave (amidſt our Sorrow for the Loſs of our late moſt gracious Sovereign) to congratulate your Majeſty on your Acceſſion to the Throne of Great Britain, in the Æra of its brighteſt Luſtre.

Under the Auſpices of your Majeſty, animated by the Example of your Royal Grandfather, what Bleſſings may we not expect? And, in Return, what Loyalty and Obedience ought not we obſequiouſly to pay?

The indulgent and tender Love your Majeſty affectionately expreſſes for your native Country, fills our Hearts with the moſt exalted Joy. Long, long may you reign the Parent, Guardian, and Protector of all your Kingdoms; the Delight, Darling, and Glory of a grateful People; and may the Britiſh Crown deſcend to your Majeſty's Poſterity, till Time ſhall be no more.

Given under our Common Seal of the ſaid Borough the Tenth Day of November, 1760.

Sign'd by Order of the Court,

Ja. Tymewell, Town Clerk.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Borough of Great Yarmouth, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Hon. Sir Edward Walpole, Knight of the Bath, and Charles Townſhend, Eſq; their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes and Commonalty of the Borough of Great Yarmouth, in Common Council aſſembled.

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Borough of Great Yarmouth, beg Leave moſt humbly to preſent our ſincere Congratulations, upon your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Throne.

We could not have diſcharged this Duty, without expreſſing the deepeſt Affliction at the ineſtimable Loſs ſuſtained by your Majeſty, your Kingdoms, and the Proteſtant Cauſe, in the lamented Death of your Royal Grandfather, whoſe mild and equal Government at home, and unexampled Succeſs abroad, made this Nation great and happy whilſt he lived, and will make his Memory dear to the lateſt Poſterity: But Providence has wiſely alleviated this Loſs, by making it the Means of opening to us the auſpicious Proſpect of a Reign as glorious, and as favourable to our Religion and Liberties, as any Reign in the Britiſh Annals.

We are encouraged to derive great Comfort from this Proſpect, by the Fame of thoſe Virtues, which were early rooted in your Majeſty's Heart by your Royal Parents; and though a moſt melancholy Event deprived your Majeſty of one of the illuſtrious Guides of your tender Years; yet His paternal Cares were ſo effectually ſupplied by the Great Princeſs to whom they devolved, that we have now the Happineſs of ſeeing your Majeſty at once poſſeſſed of the Throne of your Anceſtors, and of the united Affection of your Subjects.

Your Majeſty, thus inveſted with Hereditary Glories and Perſonal Virtues, will have the moſt natural Claim to the zealous Allegiance of all your People. It ſhall be our Endeavour to pay this in its utmoſt Extent; and permit us to manifeſt it on the preſent Occaſion, by the moſt fervent Wiſhes and Prayers, that your Majeſty's Reign may be long and happy, victorious over your Enemies, immortal in the Memory of Poſterity, and that we may always enjoy with Gratitude the Bleſſings, which, we are confident, will be diſpenſed by a Britiſh King of the Illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover.

Given under our Common Seal, at our Guildhall, this tenth Day of November, 1760.

The following Addreſs of the Provoſt, Magiſtrats, and Town Council of the Burrow of Drumfries, has been preſented to His Majeſty: which Addreſs his Majeſty has been pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects the Provoſt, Magiſtrats, and Town Council of the Burrow of Drumfries, in Council aſſembled, beg Leave for ourſelves, and in the Name of the whole Incorporation, Humbly to lay before your Sacred Majeſty, our moſt joyful Congratulations, on your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms; moſt heartily condoleing at the ſame Time with your Majeſty, on the great Loſs the Nation has ſuſtained by the Death of our late moſt gracious Sovereign, your Majeſty's Royal Grandfather; the Glory of whoſe Reign has exceeded the Renown, great as it was, which he inherited with the Scepter of his Auguſt Anceſtors.

We might have juſtly feared to be inconſoleable, under ſuch an affecting Stroke, at ſo critical a Juncture, and eſpecially when aggravated by Reflections on the previous Loſs of a Prince, the Heir apparent of the Crown, your Majeſty's Royal Father, the Darling of a grateful People, who had long beheld him as the Object of their moſt flattering Hopes: But we muſt with Gratitude adore the compaſſionate Goodneſs of the Almighty Providence, which has given us the ineſtimable Bleſſing of a Prince, to reign over the Hearts of his People, ſprung from him, on whom our former Hopes were placed, Born among us, trained up to regard his native Country as the Object of his moſt tender Affection, and endowed with every noble Virtue and great Accompliſhment, at an early Age, giving us the moſt happy Proſpect of a long and proſperous Reign. Theſe conſiderations alleviate our juſt Grief for paſt Misfortunes.

Nor can we enough acknowledge the infinite Obligations our Country owes to the illuſtrious Princeſs your Majeſty's Royal Mother, whoſe wiſe and pious Example has had ſo great an Influence in forming your Princely Mind; for the Care and Attention ſhe has moſt ſucceſsfully beſtowed on your Majeſty's Education; the happy Fruits of which muſt raiſe a laſting Monument of her Royal Highneſs's tender Concern for the Happineſs of this Nation.

The gracious Declaration with which your Majeſty began your Reign, that you would make it the whole Buſineſs of your Life to promote the Glory and Happineſs of theſe Kingdoms, cannot have failed to make the moſt grateful Impreſſion on the Hearts of all your loving Subjects.——It breathes forth every thing that can engage our moſt chearful Obedience and unbounded Affection.

We rejoice to hear the Support and Aſſiſtance of honeſt Men called for from the Throne; and we ſhould be moſt unworthy of a Prince, the Sentiments of whoſe Heart could dictate to him ſuch Language, were we not ready on our Part, to devote our Lives for the Defence of your Majeſty's Sacred Perſon, Crown, and Dignity.——On the Security of thoſe, we place all our Hopes, under God, for the Maintenance and Preſervation of our valuable Rights and Liberties, civil and religious, and for the Continuance of the flouriſhing Trade and Commerce of theſe Kingdoms; and we truſt to ſee your Majeſty's Throne immoveable eſtabliſhed in that Virtue and Righteouſneſs, which you Yourſelf have placed as the Pillars of it.

Your Majeſty has aſcended the Throne, in the Midſt of a neceſſary, and, we thank God, a glorious War, in Defence of the juſt Rights and Poſſeſſions of your Crown and People; but we hope it has been reſerved to the Glory of a Reign, the Dawnings of which are ſo highly pleaſing, to ſecure by a laſting and honorable Peace, what the Wiſdom of the Counſels, and the Valour of the Arms of the Nation, have ſo heroically and ſucceſsfully contended for.

It is our ardent Vow to Heaven, that the Fountain of all Goodneſs may moſt eminently bleſs and protect your Majeſty's ſacred Perſon; proſper and prolong your Reign; may the Crown ſit many Years with Eaſe and Honor on your Royal Head; and when late, very late, exchanged for a Crown of greater Glory, be tranſmitted, with unfading Luſtre, to Princes of your illuſtrious Houſe to lateſt Poſterity.

Signed by Order and in Preſence of the Council, this 8th Day of November 1760.

Robert Maxwell, Provoſt.
